

Contacts:

Andy Dawson, Datafinitivity Ltd
Tel: +44 (0)7739 174057
Email: andy.dawson@datafinitivity.co.uk

Datafinitivity announces professional services partnership with Scansation to deliver foxray xbound digital mailroom solutions

London, May 26, 2009 – Datafinitivity Limited, sole UK distributor of foxray document processing and digital mailroom solutions, has announced a partnership agreement with Alton-based professional services company Scansation Limited.

Under the terms of the agreement Scansation will provide implementation, customisation and training services to UK clients as they deploy foxray xbound document processing and digital mailroom solutions for transaction-based applications and white mail. Scansation, a well-established and highly experienced UK professional services provider, is also a Platinum partner for leading document capture software supplier Kofax plc.

According to Sid Sutherland, managing director at Scansation, “For some time our clients have been asking for a high-volume digital mailroom solution that is robust, scalable and offers best-in-class functionality. The combination of foxray’s xbound document processing environment and innovative data capture components from Kofax enables Scansation to meet this requirement, delivering a highly capable, unique solution with a proven track record.”

Andy Dawson, managing director at Datafinitivity, said “Foxray easily integrates with other vendors’ technology to provide end users with a better, more future-proof solution. Datafinitivity will continue to recruit partners whose best-in-class service offerings can be combined with foxray xbound to deliver world-class document processing solutions. This agreement with Scansation is a perfect example of how foxray xbound works hand-in-hand with Kofax to form a solid and reliable foundation for highly effective, centralised digital mailrooms.”

- ends -

About Datafinitivity

Datafinitivity Ltd is a software distribution and market development company focused on the document capture and EDM markets. The company has many years of experience in developing and working with channel partners across the UK and Northern Europe. Datafinitivity is the sole UK distributor for foxray products and solutions, providing both pre- and post- sales support to the partner community. For more information visit www.datafinitivity.co.uk or call +44 (0)7739 174057.

About Scansation

Scansation Ltd was founded in 2005 to provide document management solutions and professional services to the document, content and knowledge management workspace in the United Kingdom and Europe. Scansation Ltd has quickly established a reputation for customer satisfaction and technical expertise. Extensive previous experience within the document management field allows Scansation to consistently meet customers' requirements promptly and in a high-quality fashion. For more information visit www.scansation.com or call +44 (0)7730 620491.

About Foxray

foxray AG, originating from the Lufthansa group, is an innovative software provider and system integrator of DMS solutions. foxray enables large companies to automate mission-critical business processes. Functions such as scanning, classification, data extraction and workflow, as well as integration with ERP systems and document archive repositories, are central to the solutions provided. The company's expertise is in the insurance, industrial and business process outsourcing sectors. foxray's customers include Aspecta Life Insurance, Continental Tyres, RatioData IT Solutions & Services, Techniker Krankenkasse (Health Insurance), Debeka, Rhenus, Iron Mountain, Bundes Druckerei (Government Printing Office), Lufthansa and Deutsche Bahn. For more information visit www.foxray.co.uk.